Student Union President, graduates in business with distinction

LSST's winter graduates were praised at London Metropolitan University's Winter Graduation ceremony and recognised for their distinctive creativity and ingeniousness on Monday 2nd December, at the bespoke Barbican Centre.

The School was delighted to welcome back graduating students across its range of London Metropolitan University accredited programmes.

Graduation Day is a time when LSST students can revisit the fantastic achievements that they have accomplished since they first arrived and how much they have developed as an individual and as part of a thriving academic community.

LSST students and their families travelled to London from all over the world to attend and it was a wonderful celebration of their academic accomplishments and hard work. The graduation ceremony was followed by a drinks reception where the new graduates revived old friendships and celebrated with family, peers and LSST staff.

Over 75 LSST students from subject areas such as business, public health, hospitality and computing took to the stage to shake hands with Professor Lynn Dobbs, London Metropolitan University's Vice-Chancellor, before receiving their degrees.

LSST's SU President Renata Carvalho, who graduated with a distinction in business, said: 'Today is a life-changing moment that has given me a great deal of happiness. I feel very privileged to be part of such an amazing and bespoke ceremony by London Metropolitan University. I thank everyone at LSST for the career-guiding opportunities that they have provided me with.'

Commenting on the ceremony, Mr Syed Zaidi, CEO and Founder of LSST, announced: 'We are honoured to have had you as LSST students. It is my great honour to congratulate and commend those of you who have so devotedly served LSST. Your graduation is a landmark in your lives and with the skills you have acquired with us, you are endowed to find new opportunities with the confidence that you can contribute to all your hard work. I am confident that you are ready for the next big step in your lives and that you can confidently overcome many challenges. Everyone is immensely proud of you and we are sure you will continue to make us proud in the near future.'

Mr Syed Zaidi went on to add: 'I wish to thank Vice-Chancellor Professor Lynn Dobbs for her exemplary leadership that drives London Met to ever greater heights.'
