

LSST Surpasses Expectations in Latest QAA Review We take great pleasure in announcing that, yet again, we have had another successful review by the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education (QAA), the academic industry regulator. The QAA report, from our December 2015 review, clearly states that LSST continues to be in full compliance with all relevant guidelines. Amongst our commendations were our dedication in providing a dynamic learning experience by employing highly qualified staff; the introduction of rigorous measures to monitor attendance; enhancing our student support system to encourage academic and personal development; and an overall improvement in maintaining academic standards. May we take this opportunity to assure our students and future applicants that LSST is a student-centred institution and will continue to make advances in maintaining a flourishing academic environment for you all.
